

As the project, which Mark Pauline planned for the Ars Electronica Festival in 1990, could not be realized because of technical reasons, the author wanted us not to include his published text "Technology and the Irrational" on page 232/233 in the catalog archive.